Art Unit: 3744

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 6-7, 14-16, 18 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schanin in view of Riley et al. Schanin discloses the invention substantially as claimed. Schanin shows a system for energy conservation of energy in a vending machine (i.e. a temperature controlled device) by sensing a human presence such that an occupancy sensor is used to switch from a power conservation mode or a normal mode. Riley teaches power conservation based upon an occupancy sensor coupled to the temperature control via a wireless connection such that power conservation is obtained by shifting to higher or lower temperature set points (see col. 25, lines 20-53). In order to achieve a simpler and alternative procedure and to provide ease of installation, it would have been obvious to provide the system of Schanin with shifting temperature set points that the use a remote occupancy sensor coupled to the temperature control via a wireless connection to in view of the teachings of Riley.

Applicant's arguments filed April 26, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. For example, with respect to applicant's contention that none of Schanin, Szarka, or Glasgow et considered alone or in combination, describe or suggest coupling, via a wireless connection, a detector that detects whether a status is one of human present and human absent to a control unit configured to control the temperature controlled device, it is noted that the claimed combination did not previously recite a wireless connection. Reference to Riley clearly shows a wireless connection between a detector that detects whether a status is one of human present and human absent and a control unit configured to control a temperature controlled device.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
